DEDICATION.

To all the Washburn men who have served their country in this great war, and especially to those of our men who have made the supreme sacrifice of life that the world might be free, this book is affectionately dedicated.

1919	WASHBURN	KAW	1919

PREFACE.

WASHBURN has passed through a year of distress and sorrow, a year in which she has lost many of her sons and daughters, victims of the war and of the great epidemic which has swept our country. This spring-time marks the dawning of a brighter, happier future, and the rising of a new era in Washburn's life as in that of the Nation. It is with the hope that Washburn may play as great and noble a part in the reconstruction of the world as in the saving of the world, that the Junior Class of 1919 offers this volume of The Kaw to the Washburn family.

Washburn Alumni and the War.

THE Alumni of Washburn have played a splendid and valiant part in the world war, and the College is justly proud of them. Many of our former students have won special distinction while in the service of their country, among them Captain Willis Garvey, Lieutenant Arthur Champeny, and Lieutenant Harwood Benton, who won the Distinguished Service Cross; Sergeant Jake Mertz, who was awarded the Croix de Guerre and was cited thirteen times for bravery; Milford Baker, who was awarded two Italian medals; and Lieutenant William Leland, who was cited for bravery and recommended for a captaincy, but whose death occurred before his commission was received.

LESTER POSVAR.

Public Speaking is right in his line,
Or he'd make an officer fine;
Even though it is said
He too often sees red,
It hasn't dazzled his eyes with its shine.

PAULINE SANDERS.

With her songs not the least of her arts,
This "wee brown maid" won all our hearts;
She smiles whether the fates
Give to her Chem. or dates;
She's the sweetest girl round these here parts.

RUTH HEIL.

A most capable person's Ruth Heil,
With quite an enrapturing smile;
At history she's a star,
Surpasses the others far,
Fine phrases she can say off by the mile.

1919 WASHBURN KAW 1919

KELSEY GARDNER.

Though you hunt long you can't find a flaw,
His bright hair like a magnet does draw;
Still his sister he takes about,
But if she can't "cut her out",
One of the Senior girls will jump into the Kaw.

HAZEL KESLER.

It would pay Hazel K. to stop school,
To give her tired brain time to cool.
She's successes not a few
In Y. W., Kaw, Review;
But best of all she can go like a mule.

BEATRICE SHAKESHAFT.

You can depend on her doing any task,
But oh, what questions she can ask:
Why you can't mash peas?
Do cows ever sneeze?
Why some folks their faces don't mask?

FRANK KISSINGER.

For real pep he gets first rank;
If you want volume, go to Frank,
His whistles and calls
Are enough to shake walls.
Oh, he helps in many a prank.

EDNA BECKER.

Nobody works harder than Becker,
It's a wonder her work doesn't wreck her.
For running a May Fete,
You can't find her mate;
Her head is a real double decker.

1919 WASHBURN KAW 1919

RHEVA BONJOUR.

My, Rheva's a real true French shark,
 She can conjugate verbs in the dark,
 She's the most popular lass
 Of the whole Junior class,
 For she's strong for any kind of a lark.

MARY PAXTON.

She believes in the full rights of women,
 Takes to law like a duck does to swimmin';
 Of Dramatic Club's the head
 But of her it must be said
 That her beauty requires no more trimmin'.

ASA CRAWFORD.

He goes into Dramatics with zest,
 Though at raising the money is best;
 Of talk he's no lack,
 But we pay him back,
 For at the piano we give him no rest.

GLADYS ELLEDGE.

At chapel when Dean Bredin isn't there,
 Our Gladys at the organ takes his chair,
 She's pretty enough to paint,
 And looks like a very saint,
 Especially when the sun shines on her hair.

BLANCHE NOLL.

From Fairmont we stole her away,
 We think we're more lucky than they,
 She's nice and she's wise
 And has lovely eyes,
 We hope that she's come here to stay.

1919 WASHBURN KAW 1919

ELSIE SAVILLE.

While teaching the Indians a year,
She learned how to run things 'tis clear;
She's fine at debates,
And is one of the fates,
That in Student Council we fear.

MARGARET WORDEN.

She loves all the arts that are fine,
Though real fun is more in her line;
It's a picnic to hear
Her quoting Shakespeare,
Her smile is like golden sunshine.

DEWEY HUTCHINSON.

At football they say he is great,
On the Kaw he works early and late,
But with girls he won't mix,
So he's in quite a fix,
When it comes to making a date.

ELIZABETH FYFFE.

Bing bang! What an unearthly noise!
Betty's car surely does lack the poise,
This same little maid
Of naught is afraid,
No wonder she's so liked by the boys.

GERTRUDE WHEELER.

She talks as the French people do,
Her art is in Drama 'tis true;
Though the worst of slow-pokes
In the catching of jokes,
Her poise is enough to do two.

CHARLES THOMPSON.

Charles though little is mighty
But there is this about him, all righty,
He needs a firm hand
To make him keep with the band
So he won't get all puerile and flighty.

BETH ROGLER.

In the orchestra she plays the bass viol,
To act perfectly innocent's her style,
But led on by brothers two
She plays pranks not a few,
And quite often her eyes sparkle with guile.

MARGARET MARSHALL.

Margaret is one of those quiet folks
Whose delight is to tell the best of jokes;
When she plays her violin
Even though the "dumps" they're in
Into a cheerful mood she can all coax.

TERESA TUCKER.

She shines most in planning parties,
Though some say her hair outshines these;
She'll sure make a go
Of the Junior Prom show,
There's no one that she doesn't please.

CHARLES ROGLER.

In the Glee Club sings he takes part,
At working up stunts he is smart.
The boys call him "Speed"
For fate so decreed,
That of girls he should e'er have head start.

BETH HEFELBOWER.

For telling jokes Beth gets the prize;
Though we're constantly wiping our eyes,
Her face is as straight
As at a meeting of state,
No wonder they say she is wise.

CLAY BAKER.

That he's a Junior is due to the war,
But we're mighty glad of the fact, for
He first upheld the cause
Of our written unwritten laws,
At his jokes we laugh till we're sore.

MARJORA BLANK.

Our Marjora plain to be seen
Will reign a society queen,
She has a right pretty wit,
And knows how to use it,
But she never says anything mean.

RUTH BUSHONG.

Oh, she's happy as the day is long,
No wonder that friends round her throng;
If there's aught you don't know
To Ruth you should go,
For on all sorts of news she is strong.

FLOYD BETTS.

Floyd Betts is certainly handsome,
And one would have to go-some,
If he would dare
With him to compare;
I'm sure this will make him mad-some!

DOROTHY CRANE.

If anyone has a right to be vain,
That privilege we give to Dot Crane;
She edited this book,
And learned how to cook,
Without ever once growing profane.

ELMER KRENKLE.

A casual observer never would dream
That such a very dignified mien,
If tested
With "Why arrested?"
Is a mere sham, it would seem.

CHARLOTTE WALSH.

From a country that's far o'er the sea,
She came here to learn how to be
An engineer great
Though it's safe to relate
She's getting far more than a degree.

JEANNE DU'LONG.

Here's to our dark-eyed French lass,
Whom we're proud to have in our class.
She's bright as can be,
And withal quite merry,
And has a smile for all those who pass.

WALTER COLE.

As for our friend Walter Cole,
True nobody else is more droll;
And as he was born
On St. Valentine's morn,
His friends say a comic's his role.

1919 WASHBURN KAW 1919

ESTHER COLVIN.

Tho' she's pretty and smiles, boys, beware,
She has one soldier boy over there.
Since she found it was true,
That the war is all through,
The whole time she's been walking on air.

PHOEBE BUSSEY.

At tennis she makes a fine stand,
A school, no doubt, could command;
She plays on the fiddle;
You can't guess the riddle
Which in Phoebe's mind has been planned.

PERRY NOBLE.

A splendid example of industry, true,
Of learning there are to compare only few.
But we would suggest
That to make him his best,
He take a vacation and play with the rest.

JOHN LONG.

A fairy tale knight here you see,
Renowned for his prompt courtesy;
At last when he's in
The arts of medicine,
Will hearts be his one specialty?

MARGUERITE GOHLKE.

A song-bird could not sing more sweet,
As it a spring morning did greet;
We're all held spellbound
In wonder profound,
By your glorious voice, Marguerite.

JOHNNY SHUMATE.

Happy-go-lucky Miss Shumate
Never worries though to classes she's late;
She just shakes her curls
But she beats all the girls
When it's a question of how to debate.

EDWIN JONES.

Ed Jones is a star at basketball,
When he plays how the enemy's spirits fall
He makes a nursemaid rare,
But 'tis his pretty cheeks and hair
That make the girls come at his beck and call.

MILDRED OWEN.

Here's another Miss Owen by name,
Who has added her share to their fame;
These limericks silly
Were written by Milly,
Except this one across from her name.

SARAH ROBISON.

This girl has proved the maxim old
That "everything that glitters is not gold",
Beside her heart so warm
And her smile that ail does charm,
Her wealth is quite outshone a hundred-fold.

TOLL WARE.

A spick and span man is Toll Ware,
From his shoes to the last strand of hair;
His sister he likes best
To have as his guest
Which is turning other girls pale with care.

1919 WASHBURN KAW 1919

VERA PRATT.

When Aletheans want a good stunt
For this girl they start out to hunt;
If there are fortunes to tell,
You may know it full well
That of the hard work Vera has borne the brunt.

MAYM PARSONS.

She reasons but not to excess,
Her aim, well 'tis art one could guess,
We expect her success,
But assurance is less
When we question her future address.

WARREN GRANT.

Just at present he's managing the Kaw,
He puts his skill to use,
All his future he'll spend upon law,
In getting ads profuse,
And in making this book without flaw.

DAN HOPSON.

He's a very practical lawyer,
Tho' he works his friends like Tom Sawyer;
But o'er the nation
There's this reputation:
To corporations he is a warrior.

ESTHER THOMAS.

'Tis due to her that the Juniors took first prize
At the "Banquet" for attendance of largest size:
She has a sense of humor,
We're sure it is no rumor,
That she has a failing for chocolate pies.

GLADYS HEATH.

To the freshmen her help she does lend,
She surely is everyone's friend.
If she keeps on at this rate,
She will surely be great,
No telling where her honors will end.

VERNA BLOOM.

It might rouse this young lady's ire
To be likened unto a bon-fire,
But this much is right
She sure is as bright,
And her warmth is quite all you desire.

DAVE CLINE.

In Memoriam.

President P. P. Womer.

"I with uncovered head
Salute the sacred dead
Who went, and who return not. Say not so!
'Tis not the grapes of Canaan that repay
But the high faith that failed not by the way;
Virtue treads paths that end not in the grave;
No ban of endless night exiles the brave;
And to the saner mind
We rather seem the dead that stayed behind."

WE hold in grateful remembrance the Washburn men who gave their lives in the great conflict and we cherish for these men a great hope. Seen from our side the loss of these devoted young lives looms large as a catastrophe, mitigated only by their heroism and self sacrifice. But over against our sense of loss we must place the outlook eternal. If we can trust the vision of Jesus that the invisible and the spiritual are the real and the permanent, that God lives and reigns at the heart of things, that His nature is love and that He is our Father, that the way unto life is the way of sacrifice and self-giving, then it follows just as surely as the day follows night that the death of these men in a great cause in the spirit of a great consecration was not disaster but in some way it was a coronation.

Writing to his mother from one of the battlefields of Europe, a gallant young soldier expressed surprise at the calmness and serenity with which his comrades met death. He said that it caused the mercury of his optimism to rise up to see how they did it, and that he was at a loss to discover the bigness of the motive that supported them. And then, all unconsciously, this young man answered his own query about the bigness of the motive that supported his comrades by casually remarking, "After all, it is not when but how you die that really matters."

The truth is that when our brave men entered the service of the nation they had for the most part definitely decided that life itself was not too great a price to pay for the privilege of rendering the service to which they were summoned. So when death summoned them they obeyed the summons with unsurprised quietness. They had made once for all the great decision, and therefore when death came they were ready.

They fell, we say, in the service of their country and humanity. Yes, to all appearances they fell, but "They fell to rise

They were baffled to fight better
They sleep to wake."

Their task is far from ended. A completer existence is begun. They have entered the ranks of a higher service. Their power of help is increased rather than diminished. They still devote themselves to the cause of humanity.

To Them.

*Where is a little valiant, shining song
 That dares to travel far?
 Beyond the sound of eastern temple gong
 And all the seas that are—
 Beyond the highest stars, and far beyond,
 We know not even where—
 Is there a joyous, shouting little song
 That dares to travel there?
 That dares to bear upon its golden back
 A burden quaint but dear—
 Oh, we should plan and fill the mystic pack
 With laugh and sudden tear.
 Small things from the old smiling sunlit time,
 The things that made a day—
 A meadow flower, a dusk, a sounding chime,
 And sweet, glad friends, and play;
 The little joys from work and laughter caught,
 The love of simple hearts;—
 Then all the best these sadder days have brought
 These gifts from stings and smarts;
 What we have learned from sorrow old and wise;
 What heights and depths we know,
 What partial understanding anguish buys,
 Our hearts' gold—these should go.
 Oh, could we find a shining, valiant song
 That dared to travel far,
 That dared to bear a pack on journey long
 Beyond the highest star—
 We'd hold it in our hands a little while,
 And kiss it, for its quest,
 And watch it dim through many a sunset mile
 Toward Them—into the West.*

MARGARET WEBB SANDERS, '17

Carl Carpenter Searle.

CARL SEARLE received his B. S. from Washburn in 1913. He was extremely popular and was interested in all college activities, being a member of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity and of the Cercle Francais, and Orchestra. After graduating from Washburn, he attended the University of Wisconsin, where he obtained his M.S. in 1918, and where he was a member of Phi Beta Pi, a medical fraternity and of Sigma Sigma, an honorary medical fraternity. He enlisted in the Medical Reserve in January, 1918, and in the fall of that year, was admitted to Johns Hopkins University, one of three admitted from Wisconsin out of many applications. In the summer of 1918, he became engaged in Government Experimental work in Gas Defense at Washington, D. C., where his death occurred from influenza on October 19, 1918.

Harry Elmer Clarke.

HARRY ELMER CLARKE, whose home is in Kirwin, Kansas, was a student in Washburn Academy in 1908. He was interested in athletics and all Academy activities. When the United States entered the war, he made several attempts to get into the service, but was rejected because of physical disabilities. He finally succeeded in entering the medical corps, and while driving an ambulance in Washington, D. C., he met with the accident which caused his death on January 19, 1919.

Harry Hamilton Renick.

HARRY HAMILTON RENICK was graduated from the Washburn Law School in 1916. He was a member of the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity and of the Blackstone and Kent Clubs. He was also interested in college athletics. He left his law practice to enlist, but was permitted to serve his country only a short time before he became a victim of the influenza epidemic in October, 1918.

Lieutenant
Victor Kenney Dodge Blakely.

VICTOR BLAKELY attended Washburn Academy in 1916 where he made many friends. He spent the following year in Kansas University. Enlisting in the Quartermaster's Corps in the spring of 1917, he remained with this unit until after his arrival in France, when he was transferred to the 11th Infantry and sent to an Officers Training School. During the battle of the Argonne Forest, so many of our officers were killed that Lieutenant Blakely was taken from school and sent to the front in command of Company A of his regiment. He met his death his first day in battle, October 13, while gallantly leading his company.

Harold Elmer Olson.

HAROLD OLSON was graduated from the Topeka High School in the spring of 1917 and enrolled in Washburn that fall. He made a large number of friends while in college and was considered one of the most promising boys in his class. Devoted as he was to his home and to his college, he felt that his first duty was to his country. He enlisted in the Medical Service on July 19, 1918, and sailed for France September 10. He went into active service at once, and made the supreme sacrifice on the field of action October 14, in the battle of the Argonne Forest.

Lieutenant William F. Leland.

LIEUTENANT WILLIAM LELAND was at one time a student in the Washburn Law School. He graduated from the Michigan Law School and practiced at Detroit, coming from there to Atchison, Kansas in 1917. He was commissioned in the Second Officers Training Camp and sent to France at once. He became acting Captain of the "Rattle Snakes," a famous New York Division of colored men. He was killed in the Argonne drive that started September 26. His Colonel says, "Lieutenant Leland was a good and brave soldier. He met his death in a heroic manner, according to the best American traditions."

Walter Clinton Janney.

WALTER CLINTON JANNEY entered Washburn in September, 1912, where he took three years of work, specializing in Engineering. He was a member of the Alpha Delta fraternity, and was liked by all who knew him for his cordial manner and cheerful good nature. On June 16, 1917, he enlisted in Co. A., 110th Engineers and sailed for France May 2, 1918. He was wounded in the battle of the Argonne, and died as a result of his wounds on October 31, 1918, in Base Hospital No. 14. He was laid to rest in the American Cemetery at Mars-sur-Allier, Neive, France.

Fred F. Norris.

FRED F. NORRIS entered Washburn in the fall of 1915, where he was a student for two years and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was among the first to hear the call of war, enlisting in the 110th Engineers in the spring of 1917. A year later, he went to France with the 35th Division. His company went over the top in the Argonne drive on the morning of September 29th. He was among the ones who never came back. His ideals were the very highest and his last thoughts were of home.

Lieutenant Glenn Haughey.

GLENN HAUGHEY graduated from the Washburn Medical School in 1908. He was identified with all the College activities and was a fine football player. He practiced medicine in Courtland and Wakeeney, Kan., and was called to the service from the latter place. Lieutenant Haughey entered the Medical Service of the army in the spring of 1918, and was doing excellent work at the time he contracted influenza, which caused his death at Camp Oglethorpe, Georgia.

Fred H. Marcy.

FRED H. MARCY, whose home is in Milford, Kansas, attended Washburn in 1913-14. He was much interested in his college work and was greatly admired by his classmates and instructors. He was among the first to offer his all for his country, enlisting in the early part of the war in the 139th Infantry. He was killed in the battle where so many of our American boys lost their lives, that of the Argonne Forest.

Orville G. Eytchison.

ORVILLE G. EYTCHISON enrolled in Washburn in the fall of 1913, and was here during that school year. When the war broke out, he entered the Great Lakes Naval Training Station and was a member of Company C, 2nd Regiment, at Camp Dewey, where he died of pneumonia on September 29, 1918. He was a classmate of Fred Marcy, both in Onaga High School and as a Washburn freshman, and it is a remarkable coincidence that they laid down their lives on the same day, one in France, the other in America; one in khaki, the other in blue.

Victor G. Clayton.

VICTOR G. CLAYTON attended the Washburn Law School the spring semester of 1917, coming here from the University of Colorado. The following year he worked as reporter on the Topeka Daily Capital. In the spring of 1917, he entered the service of Uncle Sam at Fort Leavenworth, later being transferred to Camp Cody, New Mexico. His death, due to influenza, occurred at Camp Dix, New Jersey on September 28, 1918.

William Potter.

WILLIAM POTTER, whose home is at Mayetta, Kansas, enlisted in the Washburn S. A. T. C. in October, 1918. During his short time with us, he made many friends. After only a few days of suffering he died of influenza on October 20. His death was the only one in the S.A.T.C. unit at Washburn and was keenly felt by the entire college.

Lieutenant Guy Austin Tull.

LIEUTENANT GUY AUSTIN TULL was graduated from the Kansas Medical School in 1895. After several years as a practitioner in Kansas, he moved to Kansas City, Missouri, where he established a successful practice. Lieutenant Tull enlisted in the Medical Service in December, 1917, and was sent to Fort Riley, Kansas. He died in service July 13, 1918.

Lieut.-Col. Clarence LeRoy Cole.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL CLARENCE LEROY COLE was graduated from the Kansas Medical School in 1903, at which time the Kansas Medical School was a part of Washburn. He entered the Medical Service and was sent to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where he did excellent work in the Hospital Corps. Lieutenant-Colonel Cole was next transferred to New England, where he died in the service August 9, 1918.

Crosby Deacon.

CROSBY DEACON received his degree from Washburn June, 1917. He was a member of the Y. M. C. A., the Gamma Sigma Literary Society, and the Glee Club. He was well known and liked in Washburn, a young man of high ideals and earnest Christian character. He was attached to the quartermaster's department, receiving his military training at Jacksonville, Florida. His death occurred in France January 24, 1919, due to pulmonary pneumonia.

Louis Lloyd Larrick.

LOUIS LLOYD LARRICK received his A.B. degree from Washburn in 1915. He was very prominent in college activities, and was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Especially since his graduation have his love and loyalty for his College been shown in many ways. He was true to Washburn ideals in standing for the best in his home community. He was assistant cashier in his father's bank in Lenora at the time of his enlistment in the navy. He died of pneumonia at the Great Lakes Training Camp on October 24, 1918.

Lieutenant Carl Brown.

CARL BROWN was graduated from the Kansas Medical School in 1913, where he was a member of the Masonic Club. He established a very successful practice in Cawker City, and remained there till the time of his enlistment. He was commissioned a lieutenant in the Medical Corps in September, 1918, but served his country only a short time, as his death occurred from influenza in the following month, October, 1918.

Washburn S. A. T. C.

CAPTAIN FRANK E. SHAW.

Oh, the army, the army,
The democratic army;
Beans for breakfast,
Beans for dinner,
Beans for supper time;
Thirty dollars every month
Deducting twenty-nine
Oh the army, etc.

TWO months of army life wrought many changes in Washburn. Her entire curriculum had to be revised, new subjects were offered, special teachers were secured, and the general trend of affairs was toward the military. Many difficult problems presented themselves, resulting from a conflict between this military and academic work. But the Washburn S.A.T.C. flourished and three different times was pronounced the best unit in the state by the official state inspecting officer. To Captain Frank E. Shaw and his capable lieutenants, much credit is due for this enviable record.

Chaptain Shaw's home is at Dunkirk, N. Y. After leaving the Mohegan Lake School on the Hudson, he attended the University of Michigan and graduated from the Law School. The day war was declared, Captain Shaw sent in his application for an officer's training camp and was sent to the first O.T.C. at Fort Sheridan, where he received a commission. He was sent to Camp Custer, Michigan with the 337th regiment and was later transferred to organize the 30th Field Signal Battalion. Having successfully organized this battalion he whipped into shape the 16th Company of the 160th Depot Brigade. He was then sent to Valparaiso, Indiana, where they were just organizing a U. S. Army training detachment. After four months there he was transferred to Topeka and took charge of organizing the Washburn S.A.T.C. He was well liked by all the men in the unit and proved himself a real soldier by his excellent record. Captain Shaw accompanied the football team on every trip and was an ardent supporter of all athletics.

Lieutenant Clifford D. Blackburn, Adjutant of the post and Personnel Officer has been a student and athlete at Missouri University. He came to Washburn from Ft. Sheridan, where he received his commission last September. The paper work of the post was kept in practically perfect condition by the untiring efforts of Lieutenant Blackburn. He was a favorite with the men and if they had any troubles, Lieutenant Blackburn was the man to see.

For drill and bayonet instructor the post was fortunate in having Lieutenant

1919 WASHBURN KAW 1919

George A. Heap, Senior Instructor and Commander of Company One. Lieutenant Heap went from the University of Oklahoma to Ft. Sheridan, where he received his commission in September. He possessed a great deal of endurance and was very particular about drill work.

Lieutenant Frank J. Mnuk, Small arms Firing Instructor and Commander of Company Two, won his commission at Camp Perry. He was an expert with a rifle and only the lack of range deprived the men of actual instruction. His lectures were extremely interesting. Lieutenant Mnuk won a place in the hearts of all the men who knew him, not only those of his own company, but of the whole post. He was an ideal officer and Washburn is indeed fortunate to have him enrolled now as a student. His home is at Omaha, Nebraska.

With such officers there is little wonder that the Washburn unit ranked first in the state. But the men of the post—just common rookies—showed an unusual amount of ability: in his farewell speech to the battalion on Dec. 9, Captain Shaw made this statement: "Considering the hindrance of the influenza epidemic, the distraction caused by your academic duties and the short time since the organization of the S.A.T.C., you are as good an outfit as I ever had."

There were some 300 men at the post, quartered and fed in regulation barracks. Most of them had been inducted Oct. 1 and as the "supply" exceeded the "demand" an additional barracks had to be built. The Y.M.C.A. hut in the basement of Boswell with the "ever-ready, ever-willing Mr. Searle" as Secretary, was a big asset to the unit.

Dr. Jeffries, the Contract Surgeon, will always be remembered as a true friend of the boys. He managed the "flu" situation in a most excellent manner—having three separate S.A.T.C. hospitals and a corps of assistants. Dr. Jeffries was full of fun, a real live wire; and a mighty good doctor. He was always with Captain Shaw on the football trips and did much to encourage the blue and white eleven.

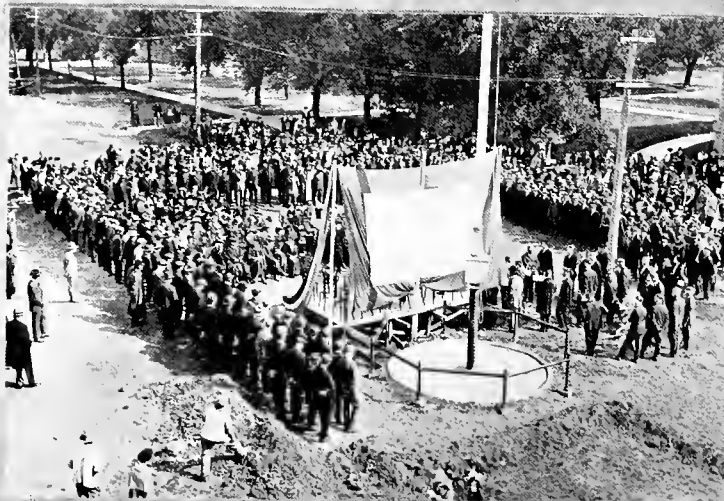

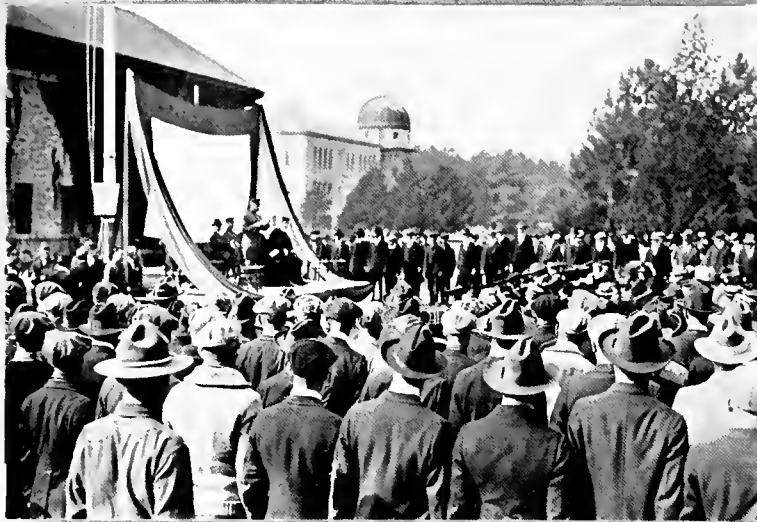

His right hand assistant during the "flu" epidemic was Mrs. Biby, the Red Cross Nurse. She was self-sacrificing at all times and always ready to wait on her patients. The boys' gratefulness to Mrs. Biby is unlimited.

The two month's of army life accomplished much for the men who availed themselves of the opportunity. They are better physically and mentally. They know what discipline means and they have some conception of hardships. Guard duty at night, fire guard, N.C.O.C.Q., K.P., and those other little tasks, all helped to make the man. The long hikes, the tiresome drills, the "dry" military lectures, the regular inspections—these also had their effects on the embryonic soldiers. But with all the hardships, even during the "air tight" quarantine, there was some pleasure and life wasn't such a grind after all.

To many a man of future years the two months of military life at Washburn will be one of the most pleasing reminiscences of his entire life.

Athletic Association.

THE purpose of the Washburn College Athletic Association is to promote the physical and hygienic training of the students of this institution, and to exercise control over football, basketball, baseball, track athletics, tennis, and other sports carried on in connection with and by the students of Washburn College.

The members of this association consist of all members of the student body who have won an athletic "W", or who hold student enterprise tickets.

The Board of Control has the supervision of all athletic interests of the College, and of all funds and property of this association.

OFFICERS.

Assistant Treasurer . . . . .	Frank Kissinger.

BOARD OF CONTROL.

Chairman . . . . .	Dean Harno.
Faculty Members . . . . .	{ Dean McEachron, Dean Harno, Coach Bearg.
Student Members . . . . .	{ Catherine Conkling, Dewey Hutchinson, Louis Schurle.
Alumni Member . . . . .	Rad Lee.

Football.

Coach Elmer Ernest Bearg.

ASHBURN now possesses what she has long desired, a 100 per cent. coach, overflowing with the true Washburn spirit. Coach Bearg is an excellent example of physical perfection. He is a graduate of Washburn, '16, having taken an active part in college athletics for four years. He was an all-state backfield man in football, a good basketball player, and in 1916 won high individual honors in the Annual Outdoor Track and Field Meet. He has a wide reputation for his high morals and his strong belief in clean athletics.

After coaching the Topeka High School through two victorious seasons, he was signed up with the College to take the place of Dr. A. R. Kennedy. Last summer he attended the School of Physical Education at Harvard, and this summer he goes to the Summer School for Coaches at the University of Illinois.

His teams, successful in both football and basketball, are strong endorsements of his capable management.

Captain Dewey Hutchinson.

OUND in body and mind, a clean player, and a clear thinker—that's Captain Hutchinson. This was Dewey's second year at football and the joyous news is that he is to be here two more years. First season he played tackle and last season center, being chosen as an all-state man. Captain Hutchinson was well liked and proved himself capable at the head of the blue and white eleven.

FOOTBALL SQUAD.

Top row—Crooks, Van Seoyoe, Bennett, Goddell, Saylor, Jenkins, Dugger, Ward, Preston, Shaler, Jackson, Hardin, Joerg, Coach Bearg.
 Second row—Palmateer, Harshman, Solsby, Sheffer, Wykoff, Lindell, McKinley, Boies, Hanzlick, Yonkers, Dakin.

Season of 1918.

ASHBURN is once again on the football map. For the first time in years, she has made more points than her opponents. To Coach E. E. Bearg, a great deal of the credit is due for this successful season. Playing behind closed gates and with only a small group of soldiers as rooters, Washburn won her first game of the season from Midland College 13 - 0, on November 7th. Two days later the team journeyed to Manhattan and mixed with the strong Aggie eleven. With a 9 - 7 score in favor of Washburn at the end of the first half, it looked as if the home boys might win. But the tide of victory turned and the Blue and White lost 28 - 9. On November 15, the Ichabods landed in Emporia; it was "Home Coming Day" for the K.S.N. alumni. Yes, all the "home coming" alumni saw Washburn walk off with the bacon that day, having won the game by a 22 - 3 score. The next trip was to the home of the fighting Irish at St. Marys. The Manhattan S.A. T.C. band accompanied the team on this trip, and led them onto the field to the tune of some martial and defiant air. The Sons of Erin had numerous signs up, "White Wash Washburn", but woe to the Irish, they themselves were whitewashed 13 - 0 and Washburn had reversed the score of the previous year. Without a precedent was the final game of the season with the Haskell Indians. Mud polo was substituted for football and Washburn won 32 - 7.

FOOTBALL TEAM.

Top row—Harshman, Palmateer, Solsby, Sheffer, Wykoff, Lindell, McKinley, Boies, Hanzlick, Yonkers, Dakin, Coach Bearg.
Second row—Bearg, Stevens, McGinnis, Balantyne, Captain Hutchinson, Parnell, Sharp, Ellis, Anderson.

Nine games had been scheduled but owing to military duties and "flu" baus, only five were played—and Washburn won four!

Owing to the demobilization of the S.A.T.C. in December, many of the men on the football team returned to their homes and its has been impossible, therefore, to obtain individual cuts of the letter men. The pictures of the squad and the team on these pages were the only alternative.

Success next season is assured with Don Lindell as captain of the team and fifteen of the following seventeen letter men back in school. Those granted letters are: Lindell, Palmateer, Harshman, Hanzlick, McKinley, McGinnis, Boies, Ballantyne, Yonkers, Parnell, Hutchinson, Sharp, Wykoff, Crawford, Ellis, Stevens, and Solsby.

Summary of Season.

NINE victories and five defeats, third place in the Kansas Conference—that is the record of the Ichabod quintet for this past season. And a mighty good record it is when compared with those of previous years. Next season Coach Bearg expects Washburn to win first place in the conference, and with six of the seven letter men back in school, there is little doubt but that his hope will be realized.

Playing the Haskell Indians at Lawrence on January 9th, Washburn won her first game of the season 34 - 22. Two days later, the blue and white was defeated at Manhattan by the Aggie aggregation 36 - 20. A large crowd turned out to see the first home game January 25th, and they were not disappointed. The Swedes from Bethany College at Lindsborg were beaten 39 - 34. The good playing continued and on January 22, Washburn won another decision on her home court, this time over St. Marys 40 - 33. On the 24th, Coach Bearg took his men down to Emporia and after an exceedingly close game, won from the College of Emporia by three points, the score being 30-27.

The first conference defeat was administered in Thomas Gymnasium January 28th by the fast Baker bunch. They simply outplayed the Ichabods and returned home with the big end of a 30 - 18 score. On January 31st, the College of Emporia played a return game here and lost 34 - 26. The other team from Emporia, the Kansas State Normals, made the trip to Topeka February 6th, and put up a fight that will long be remembered by basketball fans. At the end of the game the score stood 25 - 25. Five minutes later it was still a tie, 30 - 30. Another five minutes and each team had made one point. A rest of 10 minutes was allowed the teams and again they mixed for the third extra period. This time the Washburn quintet worked like a well-regulated machine—not a point for K.S.N and five for Washburn. The crowd roared forth its joy at the 36 - 31 victory.

Hays Normal played here February 12th, and won 26 - 21. At one time during the game, Washburn was 10 points ahead of her opponents, but Hays had the "pep" and that's what wins. Haskell played a return game February 14th, and lost 15 - 27. The Indians hated to lose the second time, and gave "striking" evidence that their "war-blood" was aroused. On February 18th, the team journeyed to Baldwin with a determination to bake Baker, and they almost succeeded. The first half ended with Washburn leading by three points. In the second half, Sharp had to leave the game with a sprained knee. Thus crippled, the Ichabods fought on and ended up three points behind the Methodists, the score being 29 - 26. St. Marys gave only a fair demonstration of basket ball on February 22d when Washburn played them a return game on their home court. They would not give the Ichabods an even chance at the ball, and thus managed to win 16 - 14.

The last two games of the season were with Ottawa, last year's Kansas Conference Champions. The first one, played here February 24th, resulted in a 47 - 35 victory for Washburn, and the return game at Ottawa February 28th likewise resulted in a victory for the blue and white, the score being 41 - 24.

Track and Field.

ONCE more the sturdy athletes of the cinder path are grinding out the weary laps. This year it is with an added vigor, for the future of track work has a decidedly bright outlook. Washburn is to be represented May 16th in the State Meet at Pittsburg, and two other outside meets are promised, besides the annual Inter-Class and Individual Outdoor Track and Field Meet. A very successful Individual Indoor Meet was staged in Thomas Gymnasium March 26th. Medals were awarded the four highest point winners. Belden received the gold medal, having made 15 points, Vance the silver medal with 13½ points, Brown the third place medal with 13 points, and Grove fourth medal with 10 points. More than twenty men took part in the meet, and fairly good records were established. Those who are out for track this season include Vance, Brown, Grove, Belden, White, Brockway, Shirk, Hutchinson, Kerans, Dutton, Lindell, Kendall, Dodge, Mnuk, Tevis, Ronchi, Welty, Crawford, Stone, Wykoff, Bearg, with possibly a few new recruits that we are unable to name at this time.

Tennis.

ALONG with track, tennis prospects are bright. Three courts are to be fixed up in perfect condition, new equipment purchased, and a caretaker provided. Several tournaments are promised, singles and doubles for both boys and girls, and then a tournament of mixed doubles, a boy and girl on each team.

The college championship in the singles was won last year by Armin Weiskirch. After several strategic sets, he won the title from William Barnett.

Literary Life in Washburn.

NOT to belong to one of the literary societies in Washburn is to be deemed an outcast, so important a part do they play in the college life. One night a week, Friday, is given over exclusively to their meetings, and only very important all-school events or formal parties are granted dates on this night.

At present there is only one society for the men, the Gamma Sigma Literary Society, from whose members come the men debaters and orators of the college. The girls have three societies, the Washburn Girls' Literary Society, the Metheans, and the Helianthus Literary Society. These societies are open to all girls enrolled in the college, inasmuch as each girl is given a chance to petition for membership and the only qualification of membership is regular attendance at the meetings.

The Literary Societies offer a splendid training for public address as well as presenting to the students a fund of knowledge concerning the literature, art, and music of the world. No student can afford to miss the opportunity thus afforded.

Alethean Literary Society.

ORGANIZED 1902.

THE programs of the Alethean Literary Society vary each week, but all of them are of great value to its members. The society has always stood for the highest grade of literary work. The close friendships which are formed and the good times which are enjoyed are not soon forgotten.

Washburn Girls' Literary Society.

ORGANIZED 1903.

WHEN organized, the Washburn Girls' Literary Society corresponded to the Washburn College Literary Society of boys, which has, however, been discontinued because such a large percent of its members are in the army. The W.G.L.S. has a very large membership and its weekly meetings are always interesting and well attended.

Helianthus Literary Society.

ORGANIZED 1917.

THE Helianthus Literary Society was founded by seven active members of each of the other societies. This organization has well fitted into the college life and has grown rapidly in the two years of its existence. The programs are helpful as well as entertaining, and every member is a loyal Helianthus.

Gamma Sigma Literary Society.

MEETINGS of the Gamma Sigma Literary Society have proved to be of practical value to all the members, the main features of the meetings being debates, ex-orations, stunts, and music. The Gammas are proud of the fact that they have a share in holding high the standards of Washburn in inter-collegiate forensics.

DEPARTMENTAL

French Club.

WITH many of our own Washburn men in France learning to "parlez-vous Francais" and five real French people as members of the Washburn family this year, the French Club has increased its membership at a marvelous rate and has become one of the liveliest organizations on the campus. At the meetings of the club, the French students have an opportunity to become personally acquainted with our new French teacher and his wife, Professor and Mrs. Henri Ronchi. All those who are enrolled in French or who have previously studied it are eligible for membership in this club.

Biological Club.

ONE of the most interesting clubs on the campus is the Biological Club, which meets every other Wednesday at four o'clock in Rice Hall. To be eligible for membership, a student must have had one year of Botany, Zoology, Genetics, Public Hygiene, or Premedics. The meetings are addressed by teachers or doctors of the city or by the students themselves. Two of the interesting subjects discussed this year were "Medical Marvels of the War" and "A Working Program Against Influenza."

President	Ruth Tomlinson.
Vice-President	Lulu Wiser.
Secretary-Treasurer	Edna Becker.

Engineer's Club.

THE Engineer's Club did not organize until the second term this year because most of its former members were in the S.A.T.C. The meetings have been most interesting and have been addressed by students or outside speakers. Such subjects as Astronomy and Engineering on Ship-board have formed topics for discussion at the meetings. All students interested in Engineering are eligible for membership.

Phi Sigma Omega.

ESTABLISHED 1918.

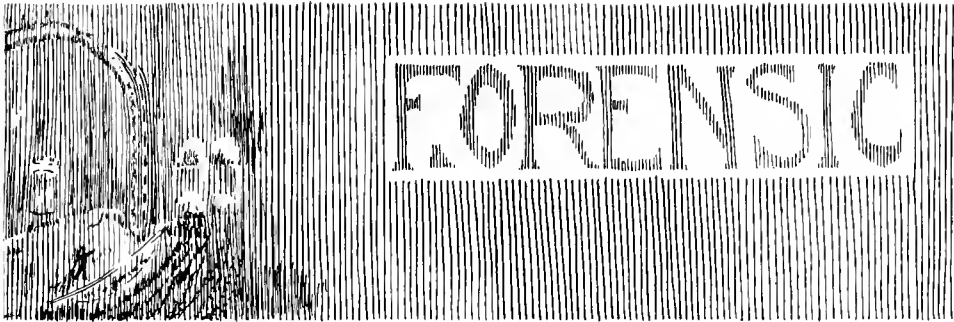

Phi Sigma Omega was founded by Mrs. P. P. Womer and Miss Jessie Dean, and was organized March 9, 1918. It is an organization of out-of-town Washburn girls who do not live on the campus and are not members or pledges of any sorority with a chapter at Washburn. The object of the organization is to unite the girls in friendship and in loyal service to the ideals of Washburn. The motto is "Friendship, Sociability, and Service."

Forensics.

ASHBURN forensics, like all other school activities, have been somewhat limited by the unusual conditions this year. Added to the local peculiarities of the year, the adoption of National Prohibition also eliminated one oratorical contest which has always been a prominent feature in Washburn's forensic season. Furthermore, the usual Spring Oratorical Contest, in which Washburn has always figured very prominently and successfully, was not held this spring.

Therefore, the Debates have furnished the sole activity along forensic lines. Two debates were held, the Girls' Dual Debate with Manhattan and the Boys' Pentangular Debate, in which Washburn, Manhattan, Baker, Ottawa, and Emporia contested. The returns from the latter debate will be too late to be published in the Kaw.

Another debate for the girls was planned with Polytechnic Institute in Kansas City, Missouri. This, however, had to be abandoned because of a lack of debaters in the third term.

Religious Life at Washburn.

ONE of the distinguishing features of the college life at Washburn is the emphasis placed upon the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. At least ninety-five percent of all the students enrolled in the college are members of these organizations, and the meetings and other activities of the two bodies form the center of the college life.

The meetings are held on Tuesday morning in the Y.M. and Y.W. rooms on the second floor of the Library. Special music is furnished by the students of the Fine Arts Department, and the speakers are usually members of the Student Body or of the Faculty, with occasionally a prominent Topeka man or woman or an Association secretary.

The activity of these organizations is not limited to the college, but extends also to such institutions as the Crittenton Home, Industrial School, Ingleside, and the Orphans' Home. The members of the Social Service Committees teach Sunday School classes and provide musical programs for these more unfortunate neighbors, as well as supply their material wants.

The first event of the college year is the Y.M.-Y.W. Mixer, at which the freshmen are introduced to the faculty, the upper classmen, and to one another. The Big Sister Movement of the Y.W.C.A., by which each freshman girl is assigned to the special care of a Junior or Senior girl whose duty it is to help her enroll and to be her counsellor and guide during the year, has proved to be one of the most beautiful features of the college life.

Top row—Hutchinson, Menninger, Belden, Welty.
Second row—Neal, Jackson, Anderson, King.

Young Men's Christian Association.

ORGANIZED 1883.

ALTHOUGH the number of boys in school this year is small, yet the Y.M.C.A. has an excellent association, standing for the best interests of the student body. The aim of the organization is to promote the spirit of helpfulness, good fellowship, and the development of Christian character among the men of the college.

Young Women's Christian Association.

ORGANIZED 1884.

PURPOSE: "The purpose of the Association shall be to unite the women of the institution in loyalty to Jesus Christ, to lead them to accept Him as their personal Saviour, to build them up in the knowledge of Christ, especially through Bible study and Christian service, that their character and conduct may be consonant with their belief. It shall thus associate them with the students of the world for the advancement of the Kingdom of God. It shall further seek to enlist their devotion to the Christian Church and to the religious work of the institution."

Freshman Commission.

ORGANIZED 1918.

PURPOSE: The purpose of the Freshman Commission is to develop among the younger girls in Washburn a more personal interest in the Y.W.C.A., through study of the organization and its work both local and national. It attempts to prepare the Freshman girl for leadership in Y.W.C.A. work, to promote a spirit of democracy and service on the campus, and to develop as much as possible the spiritual and religious lives of its members.

The members of the Commission are chosen by the Cabinet from among the Freshman class. Gladys Heath, a Junior in College and a strong Y.W. worker, was chosen by the Cabinet to lead the Freshman Commission this year.

In Memoriam.

John H. Dadisman.

JOHN H. Dadisman, American student leader and foreign secretary of the International Young Men's Christian Association at Nanking, died at Shanghai on February 9, 1918. His short, intense useful life deserves a more complete memorial than this. Charles M. Sheldon, who once made Dadisman the hero of one of his most popular books, said, on learning of Dadisman's death, that his life, though short, had accomplished more than many a successful man who had lived his three score years and ten.

Though he was born in Virginia, Kansas gladly insists upon the right to call him citizen, for at seventeen years of age he came west and lived at Topeka from his first entrance into the Academy at Washburn, on through his college and post-graduate work, and through seven years as secretary of the State Committee. He took his A.B. degree from Washburn in 1905, and four years later his Master's degree in Philosophy and Sociology, the latter degree being earned while he was traveling among the student associations of Kansas. Besides being successful in his scholastic work, Mr. Dadisman was decidedly active in athletics and other student organizations. For four years he played football, being captain of the team two years. He had three years of baseball, one of them as captain. He was Senior Class president, a member of the college paper staff, the winner of his college oratorical contest, and an intercollegiate debater. He held various positions on the Association cabinet, and was president for three years. (Written by John Manley for "The North American Student.")

The Student Volunteers of Washburn College, both present and Alumni members, are establishing a scholarship at Nanking University for Chinese Students in memory of John Dadisman who gave his life for others.

The members of the Washburn Student Volunteer Band this year are:

Helen Graves.	President.	David Cowgill.
Finley Neal.	Secretary.	Louise Herrick.
Margaret Sells.

CHIEF among the student governing bodies of Washburn is the Student Council, whose members are representatives from the faculty and from the various classes and departments of the College. The duties of this body are very extensive and include the planning and conducting of the All-Washburn parties which are given once a month, every other one being a dance; supervision over Debate and Oratory, arranging the various contests, and granting Forensic "W's"; supervision over the elections to the more important offices of the school; and granting of dates for all parties and other school events. This year the Student Council has put into effect two very striking innovations: the first, a new Constitution providing for a radical change in membership the second, the Point System, whereby each student is limited to fifteen points a year and fifty points for the four years, a certain number of points being given for holding the various school offices. The Student Council, like all other organizations, has had to meet many difficult problems this year, but it has met them tactfully and successfully.

The two Pan Hellenic Councils govern the Greek letter fraternities on the campus. They regulate Rushing and Pledge Day, and strive to promote better inter-fraternity spirit.

The girls living in the two dormitories, Holbrook Hall and Hartford Cottage, are under the supervision of the Student Government. By means of various officers elected from among their own number, discipline and order are maintained and good times insured.

The Dramatic Club.

THE Dramatic Club is more than a play-producing organization, it is one of the strongest cultural factors of the College. It is a national organization, being a member of the Drama League of the United States. The work of the Club has been less this year than formerly, because of the S.A.T.C. and the closing of school on account of influenza. For these reasons, the usual fall play was not given. On March 7, the Club presented James Barrie's "Quality Street". Besides being a very well produced play, it was by far the greatest financial success the Club has ever had. The spring play will be Shakespeare's "As You Like It."

The Dramatic Club has always been interested in the improvement of Washburn. Now that the Dramatic Club wall is paid for, it is taking up the building of a Greek Theater on the campus. The Cast and Score Club is cooperating with the Dramatic Club by giving the proceeds from "The Mikado" towards this theater.

Glee Clubs.

ASHBURN is very fortunate in having two splendid glee clubs. Besides entertaining us occasionally at chapel, the Glee Clubs appear at all important Washburn gatherings, such as the Washburn Day Banquet. A beautiful feature of the Memorial Service was Mendelssohn's "Lift Thine Eyes" which was given by the Girls' Glee Club. The members of the Glee Clubs form the choruses in "The Mikado", and to their splendid training under Dean Bredin is due a great part of the success of the performance.

Orchestra.

HE Washburn Orchestra is one of the newest organizations in college. Its purpose is to create more interest in the music department and to furnish music for entertainments. The Orchestra is proving that there is more talent in Washburn than anyone dreamed of. Its first appearance was at "Quality Street", presented at the Grand on March 7th, and the entire college was delighted with the quality of music. The next appearance of the Orchestra will be at "The Mikado". Under the capable direction of Professor Tello, great things are expected of the Orchestra in the future.

The Handbook.

THE Washburn Handbook is published annually by the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations. A copy is given to each student enrolling in the College, and for the Freshmen especially, it contains a valuable fund of knowledge about Washburn and Topeka. Later in the school year, the Student Directory is printed, and this directory fits into the back of the Handbook so that all necessary information concerning the College is in a "vest-pocket" edition. The Handbook this year was compiled by Kenneth B. Hobbs, '20.

The Bulletin.

BI-MONTHLY the Washburn College Bulletin makes its appearance and is an interesting and valuable source of information concerning the College itself, the Faculty, the Alumni, and the student body. To a great extent, it is the Bulletin going into the home of every alumnus and friend of the College that binds the Washburn family together and keeps the Washburn spirit alive, for it brings to each graduate news of his classmates and news of the present college life.

Editors . . . . D. L. McEachron and W. C. Wheeler.
Advisory Committee of Alumni, Arthur J. Carruth, Jr., Lutie
Embleton, and Daisy Neil.

The Review.

The Press Club.

ORGANIZED 1916.

Purpose: To provide publicity for Washburn College and to stimulate interest in Journalism among the Washburn College students.

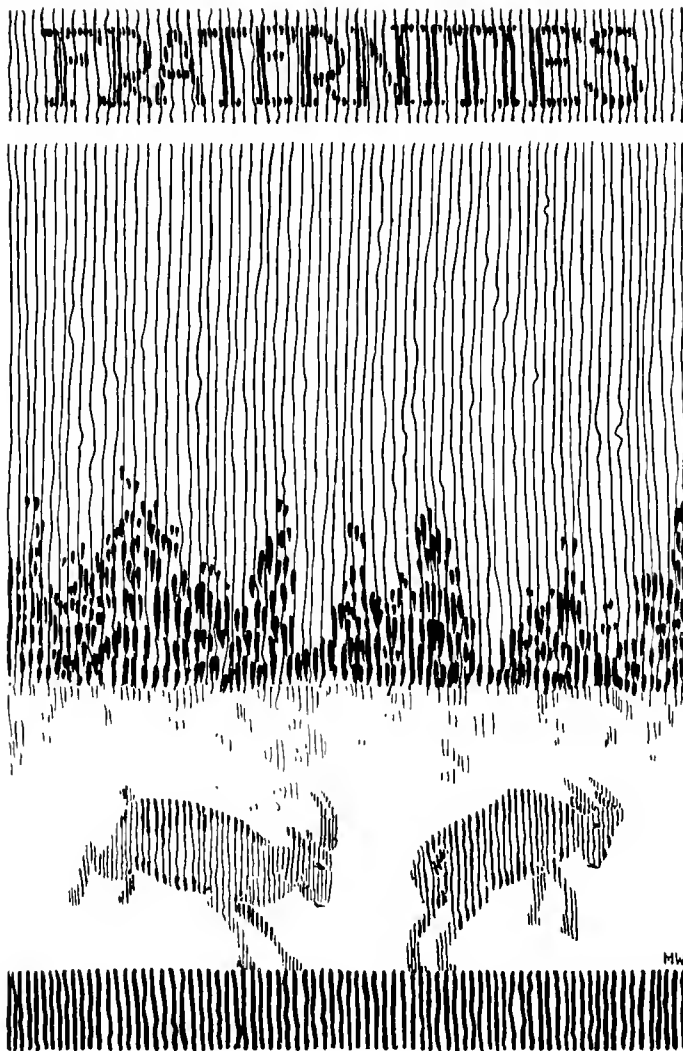

HE Press Club is an organization of students who are interested in Journalism. The Review Staff is chosen from its members. The Club sends news of Washburn to the leading newspapers in Kansas and news of individuals to their home papers. The Club meets once a month and is addressed by experienced newspaper men. Membership requirements consist of a number of newspaper articles and a certain amount of reporting, which are passed by a qualifying board.

VACATION PROFIT

While a student in Washburn, John A. Fay spent a part of his last two summer vacations at Dougherty's. The day before commencement he told Mr. Dougherty he would like a stenographic position at once after graduation, and within an hour Mr. Dougherty had arranged for him to go to work the day following commencement, in a good position with the Santa Fe.

Thus he was six months ahead in salary of what he would have been had he waited until after graduation to prepare for work; and, besides, he had made much use of the shorthand in his school work and earned no small part of his school expenses as he went.

Mr. Fay has for some years held especially fine positions with the government, in Manila and elsewhere.

Yesterday—Today—Tomorrow

May our home at Eighth and Kansas Avenue be at your convenience when downtown.

May our bulletin boards always place the Ichabods on the winning side.

For 34 years the Topeka State Journal, day after day, week after week, month after month, has been a staunch and loyal supporter of all that has been for the good of Washburn College and the Sons of Ichabod.

In these 34 years the State Journal has stood side by side with the college. The State Journal has been a beneficiary of the growth of the college and the College has profited thru the growth of the State Journal.

Thousands of Kansans daily have read of the activities of Washburn thru the columns of the State Journal. In the years to come the spirit of the blue will be maintain in "black and white" in the Evening Daily of Kansas.
